Explorer Scouts Wolf And Dexter Off To National Camping Area

Philmont Scout Ranch in New Mexico in the destination for two Belle Glade Explorer Scouts who left by bus from Tanah Keeta Boy Scout Camp in the early hours Wednesday morning, along with 24 other boys and their three advisors.

Eagle Scout Glenn Wolf, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Wolf, and Danny Dexter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Dexter were enthusiastic about the trip as they readied their gear early this week for the 23 day trip.

Glenn is Post Representative and Danny is Post President of Explorer Post 612 of Belle Glade, sponsored by the Belle Glade Lions Club. Both boys will be seniors at BGHS this fall. The boys have worked this summer to earn at least half of the more than $200 which each requires to pay for the camp trip. This is in compliance with Scout rules which say that no more than half the money required may be contributed by the parents or civic organizations.

Eight full days will be spent in sightseeing, starting with historic New Orleans, then on to Alamo, Carlsbad Caverns in New Mexico is also on their agenda of sightseeing events on the trip westward.

Accreditation - A Mark Of Excellence! Non-Accreditation - A Guide To Improvement!

Accreditation of the school your child attends insures you that facilities are available to give him an education of modern conception and of a standard acceptable to another school to which he might transfer, including Junior and Senior Colleges.

What he GETS out of the system is an indication of parental influence, guidance and help — his cooperation is usually in direct ratio to that influence, guidance and help.

Last year the standards of PB County Schools were revised and appear in the Florida Department of Education and the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools in determining accreditation.

Teams of educators visit each school, and with the aid of our own teachers determine the quality of compliance.

Belle Glade Elementary, Belle Glade High, Lake Harbor, Pahokee High and Pahokee Elementary, East Lake Elementary and High are accredited with deficiencies, being limited, or being warned.

New Office Space For Police Dept.

A new addition to Belle Glade Police Department will provide three offices, one of which will serve for traffic and juvenile cases, according to Chief Charles Goodlett. The third office will provide the Chief a much needed private office.

Bob Martin has the contract for the building.

limited deficiencies or warned. Gladeview is not in existence long enough for consideration. "Direction may be given for effective programming in the schools," says the School Board as a result of accreditation reports.

City Park Rules Must Be Obeyed

"From the time our parks were started it was necessary to have rules, not only for the protection of the children, but to care for the equipment," Mrs. C. W. McDonald, Park Consultant said.

"We have regular supervised playground hours: 9:00 A. M. to 12:00 A. M. and 2:00 to 5:00 in afternoon. All children, all ages, unless they are with their parents, must leave the park after hours," she emphasized.

—RULES—

1. No dogs, or cats, are allowed in the park, not only for the safety of the children but for sanitary reasons.
2. No bad language or profanity is allowed and no fighting.
3. The park is planned so that the equipment for small children is away from the large equipment for older age groups for the safety of the children.
4. There are trash cans in the park. This must be put in the cans. Don't be litterbugs and help keep our parks clean.
5. The flowers are planted for everyone to enjoy — not to destroy.

"We ask the cooperation of all parents to cooperate and help us enforce these rules for the safety of our children," Mrs. McDonald urged.

The Southern Schools and Colleges' Association gives nine major deficiencies which may bring about non-accreditation: Political interference; non-qualified superintendent or principal; non-qualified librarians; less than minimum number of books in library; inadequate financing of any school program; 20 percent or more teachers with pupil period overloads; 10 percent of teachers with pre-planning periods; serious plant or school building inadequacies.

Last year insufficient personnel was a major criticism in all of our schools, and predominance among criticism was lack of adequate libraries and books in many of our schools, a department authority said.

Included among major items are: Administration and Instructional personnel; Non-Instructional personnel; Instructional programming; School Services; School Buildings; School Facilities; School Services; School lunch program; School transportation system; guidance personnel; and instructional resources.

South Bay Moves Up Its Election

South Bay's City election date has been moved up to the first Tuesday in September instead of the first Tuesday in October effective this year.

City Clerk announces that the registration books will close ten days prior to the election date.

New Clubhouse Plans Nearing Completion

A settlement has been arrived at and approved by the City Commission concerning the burning of the Clubhouse, and its replacement, according to the City Manager.

The sum of $53,353.89 is the final figure, and the clubhouse will be constructed by the insurance company, substantially of the same size and general arrangement as the old one, plans to be approved by the City Commission.

A part of the settlement is for the contents of the building when it was burned.

New Equipment For Ag. Classes At BG High School

"While experience and interest are the main factors in making a good mechanic, a well-equipped shop can do wonders in promoting the interest of the boys," Mechanical Arts Instructor James Goza said.

This year, he said, Belle Glade High School will have the largest class in mechanics ever, with around 60 boys enrolled for general training. This is double last year's class and some 40-45 boys will get special training.

The gift from Ron Marlowe Ford Company of a brand new Ford engine and transmission for the Belle Glade High School Ag Shop will be a great help in providing better instruction for our boys. Along with this, the Ford Company provides charts, manuals and other teaching materials for instructional purposes. (See photo page 2B).

"We expect to be using this new equipment for 225 class periods of one hour each during the coming year," Goza said.

He explained the new engine and transmission will be used mainly for training in engine tuneups; the boys have other engines to test down and put back together again — a Briggs & Stratton which the boys themselves brought in for the class, and a big Studebaker engine donated by Pelton Morris.

These, along with three tractors owned by the Belle Glade FFA Chapter, gives the boys plenty of mechanical opportunities.

"Need For Planning And Action To Assure Water Requirements"

Representative Emmett Roberts opened a meeting in Clewiston Wednesday morning with the Hon. Ken Ballinger, Assistant Attorney General, representing Attorney General Earl Faircloth, other knowledgeable attorneys, engineers, farmers and laymen for a discussion of how, when, and how much fresh water individuals, farmers, communities and areas of hydrological affinity may expect today and the days to come.

THE WORLD'S MOST WIDELY USED DEVOTIONAL GUIDE

Read Luke, 6:17-23

Come unto me, all ye that labour and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest. (Matthew 11:28)

While in Cuba once, I was asked to preach to a rural group from a city. The appointed place was on a hilltop from where we could see for many miles. At the scheduled time, with the friendly faces looking up at me from their positions on the ground, I began to speak. My interpreter touched my arm and pointed into the growing darkness toward a lantern being carried by someone moving up toward us from the valley below.

The lantern was a weary but radiant mother, carrying in her arms the dimpled twin form of her daughter. As the mother sat on the ground tenderly cradling her, they both smiled up at me expectantly. I thought of the comforting words—words of peace and hope—of our Savior as He stood on a hillside long ago speaking to the expectant multitudes.

PRAYER: Our Father, how thankful we are for the glorious message of love, as revealed through our Savior, Jesus Christ. Create within us an attitude of concern for people the world over, and help us reverently and joyously to proclaim Thy Word throughout all the journey of life. In Jesus' name. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

What glorious news we have to share with the expectant world!

Geólogos, ingenieros y científicos dicen que la mas abundante reserva de agua fresca en todos los Estados Americanos la tiene la Florida. Hay dos manantiales, el Silver Springs y el Rainbow, que son los mayores de los E. U. Y. y descargan suficiente agua para proveer una ciudad de 3 millones de habitantes. Ademas existen otros 20 manantiales.

Al representante del State Board of Conservation, Mr. Emmett Roberts, le han pedido comisar un estudio de como estas aguas que ahora se pierden en agua salada, se pudieran pasar en canal a los "manitos" donde las comunidades de la Florida estan tomando ahora sus suministros de agua fresca.

Como el agua fresca es una necesidad para todos, todo ciudadano debe tomar interes en saber de donde, cuando y como se provee su necesidad diaria de agua fresca.

El Miami Sequearium, bajo com del Distrito de Control de Inundaciones, ha facilitado tres manantiales, o vacas marinas, que seran utilizados en la limpieza o drenaje de los canales al sur de la Florida.

No solamente se comen las hojas de la maleza, sino arrancan las raíces de las plantas, como los jacintos cuya extracción.

Nobody Will Break This Appointment

By Lewis Llewellyn

There is one appointment which all of us will keep — one which we will not break, no matter how inconvenient the time or the circumstances.

A king, many years ago, asked that his appointment with God be postponed, and the request was granted. The Bible tells us that King Hezekiah, when informed by the prophet Isaiah that he should set his house in order because he was going to die, prayed for longer life.

Isaiah, who was leaving the palace after talking with the ailing monarch, received a message from the Lord, returning to Hezekiah, he told him that God had heard his prayer and that he had been granted 15 years more of life.

But most of us do not have any information as to when we are to keep our appointment with our Maker.

A soldier-poet, in the First World War, said, "I have a rendezvous with Death" but he did not know just where or when.

PLENTY OF TIME

Most of us believe that we have plenty of time. But the Bible reminds us that the time of this appointment is not subject to our control.

Solomon said, "There is no man that hath power over the spirit; neither hath he power in the day of death, and there is no discharge in that war."

When I was a boy, we used to play a game in which the person who was "it" would close his eyes while he counted to an agreed-upon number, to give the other players time to hide. Then, opening his eyes, he would call out, "Ready or not, here I come!"

So it is with us when the time comes for us to keep our appointment to meet God. Ready or not, we may not delay the appointment.

But this appointment may be kept joyously.

Hugh Mackail, young Covenant preacher in Edinburgh in 1666, was condemned to be hanged for his faith. The execution date was set for four days in the future.

When the soldiers led him back to prison to await the day of execution, many who watched him, were weeping as they saw the young man being led away.

"GOOD NEWS!"

"Trust in God!" he cried. Then he spotted a friend in the crowd. "Good news — good news!" he exclaimed. "I'm within four days' journey of seeing the Lord Jesus Christ!"

The Bible says, "It is appointed unto man once to die, but after this the judgment."

The time of meeting God may be sad or joyous — depending on whether we are ready or not.

HAND IN HAND

One of the bright phenomena of the times has been the growth in the number of shareowners in American industry.

The New York Stock Exchange recently made a new count of shareowners and found the number to be an astonishing 20,120,000 as against only 8,498,000 in 1952. Looking into the future, the Exchange foresees that by 1980, if present trends continue, the stockholder population will total 33 million people.

This is a reflection of the American people's faith in our economic future and in the enterprises which provide our almost limitless flood of goods and services. And the need for capital is enormous and is due to increase vastly. The head of a leading New York consulting firm, writing in Public Relations Journal, cites some thought-provoking figures. In the 10-year period, 1954-64, capital needed for new plant and equipment for industry came to about $300 billion of which at least $120 billion was to come from new money. For the 1964-74 decade, the need is estimated at $425 billion, of which at least $185 billion must come as new money. In his words, "... it is necessary and desirable for U. S. industry to generate more positive and better-informed participation by shareowners and investors generally."

Shareownership and economic progress go hand in hand.

In the first four months of this year, electricity generated by nuclear power in this country was 69.5 per cent ahead of the comparable 1964 period. More than 14 billion kilowatt hours have been generated from atomic sources since the program began in 1957.

Books which relate to religion fall into other classifications, as well. Of these new titles one is shelved with biography, one in sociology, and one is numbered 616.838, the classification for cerebral palsy.

WITH LOVE FROM KAREN. KILLIES.

This is hardly a book ON religion, yet the devout Catholic faith of a family runs unwavering through it all.

A follow-up on KAREN, a best-seller in 1952, it tells of the teen years of the author's daughter, a girl afflicted with cerebral palsy. It is a kind of love story, full of laughter, and tears, written by a gifted mother.

THE GENERAL NEXT TO GOD COLLIER.

"Sidewalk Soldiers," or "Tam Bourne Troops," no minority religious group has so attached itself to the affection of all as has the Salvation Army, founded by William Booth one hundred years ago.

JOURNAL OF A SOUL. Pope John XXIII.

A rare document, this was begun when Angelo Giuseppe Roncalli was fourteen, and continued for sixty-seven years. It reveals the maturing man, to whom "God is everything, I am nothing."

Dear Mister Editor:

I recollect my Pa used to say a good day's work never hurt nobody. I figure neither a good day's rest, so I been sitting on the front porch rocking with the grail — and making plans and thinking.

My old lady says all my plans was for yesterday and my thinking was backwards and I had ought to be setting on the back porch rocking with my face to the wall. But you know, Mister Editor, how women folks are in these matters.

I been thinking up a letter I aim to write to my Congressman about the money situation. I don't mean about the fact it ain't worth nothing no more, but about taking all the silver out of when a feller has got a few halves and quarters tinkling in his pocket he feels like he is a man of the world and it gives him a little pride as he walks along. With them new coins made out of some kind of metal pulp, a citizen will get the feeling he's toting a handful of stove bolts and washers around with him. It's going to be mighty hard on the public pride and I'm wondering if the Congress has took this angle into consideration. I aim to ask my Congressman about it.

And the oipers has been over-looked lately about beauty contests all over the nation. I have saw pictures of girls that was anything from "Miss Pineapple" to "Miss Everything."

I been thinking maybe we was overdoing this matter, but I reckon a old coddler like me ain't got no business expressing a opinion on this subject. I recollect my Grandpa, that lived to be 98, used to say that all wimmen looked alike to a feller — after he got to be 98. The place didn't say if "Miss Everything" wbn on account of a beauty contest or inventory. And I note where one beauty queen told a Washington sum wrt ar the man she married "must be idealistic in a realistic sort of way." Looks like she got the beauty crown and swallowed the dictionary all at the same time. If you know, Mister Editor, what she's talking about, please let me know. The more I set and rock the less I understand about all this beauty queen business.

And I been pondering over this sign they said was in a hardware store: "No Paint Sold to Men Unless They Have a Written Note From Their Wives Specifying Shade." Could be this hardware store was smart as a briar. When we paint anything at our house, my old lady picks the color and I do the painting. But the husband can still use his head in these matters. My old lady, fer instant, kept pestering me to paint the floor and sealing of the back porch. I painted the sealing first and when I got it painted I had the floor half done.

Yep, Mister Editor, they ain't nothing better'n taking a good day's rest and just setting and rocking and thinking and making plans for yesterday.

Yours truly,
 Uncle Dan

175th Coast Guard Anniversary

One hundred and seventy-five years ago, on August 4, 1790, Congress passed and President Washington signed a bill authorizing the construction of "fast cutters" for guarding the coast against smugglers. This was the beginning of today's U. S. Coast Guard.

The past few years have been years of high accomplishment for the 2,000 officers and men of the Seventh Coast Guard District and they are particularly happy to join in the celebration of this 175th anniversary.

The Seventh District, with headquarters in Miami, Fla., is a geographical area comprising South Carolina, Georgia, Florida and parts of the Carolinas, the Florida, Caribbean Sea and parts of the Canal Zone. Coast Guard men in this area have undertaken a program of modernization to keep pace with the expanding boating population and to increase the District's operational efficiency.

Construction of a new air facility at Opa Locka, Fla., is underway to replace the operation now located at Dinner Key in Miami. This project will provide messing and berthing for 174 officers and men, aircraft maintenance and storage spaces, refueling systems and administrative offices. The project is scheduled to be completed in September 1965 at a cost of approximately $1,110,000. The move to Opa Locka is forced by the present hazardous water landing conditions and will also reduce salt water corrosion on Coast Guard aircraft.

The first phase of construction has been completed at the new Coast Guard base at Mayport, Fla. This facility is a large navigational aids base with mooring facilities for several Coast Guard vessels, 450 feet of bulkhead, one building with three large storage rooms and a light attendant station office. Total cost of this phase was approximately $400,000. The Coast Guard Cutters SWEEETUM, SMILAX and an 82-foot patrol boat will be moved to the river base from their current stations at the Mayport Naval Station and New Smyrna Beach, Fla.

The second phase of the Mayport project, construction of berthing and messing facilities for 43 officers and men, new industrial shops and administrative facilities, is now being prepared for contract with an estimated cost of $500,000.

School Board Budgets $73.6 Millions $26.75 Millions Building Bond Issue

Palm Beach County's Board of Public Instruction began this week an effort to implement the provisions of its 1963-64 budget aimed at raising accreditation levels and upgrading the curricula. $26,750,000 of the budget total represents the school building bond issue money already voted last November in a referendum of property owners.

Supr. Robert W. Fulton said, "The Board of Public Instruction has made an earnest attempt to give the people of Palm Beach County an overall superior school system." He called the budget "both flexible and basic."

"This year's budget is larger than last year's," he noted, "because Palm Beach County's schools are growing in enrollment each year at the rate of 5 or 6 per cent." A check with the records show that ten years ago the countywide school enrollment was only 29,084 but last year it had risen to 61,700. Mr. Fulton said he expected more than 65,000 to enroll next school year.

Mr. Fulton said, in presenting the budget and recommending its adoption, that it is designed to meet "three definite needs: 1. To 'catch-up' where necessary; 2. To 'hold the line' in relation to the tax structure in percentage increase (and the budget achieves this); and 3. To move ahead towards quality education."

"The budget this year includes large sums of money," the Superintendent said, "for the purpose of increasing the number of personnel necessary adequate to staff an expanding school system." This will include some 200 additional teachers and a modernized and expanded administrative staff.

New Fangled Gear For Cane Cutters Being Studied By Sugar Mills

Glades peace officers are well acquainted with the effectiveness of cane knives in the settlement of social and afterhours difficulties; hence the regular casual vest labor in the Glades last possession. Cane knives are an essential item to the Glades economy — they were used in providing $12,350 millions of direct labor in the Glades last year, and some $5, million additional salaries and pay checks supplemental to the harvest. Cane knives also caused 94 percent of "hand tool" injuries, 95 percent of the days lost and 90 percent of the cost of medical, compensation and attorneys' fees in the hand tool category of injuries, in six Glades cane mills. These same six mills had 1-231 disabling injuries which caused 39,602 lost days of work and $203,972 in money — 2½ percent of the total payroll. Of the cane knife injuries, 43 percent were on fingers; 20 percent on legs; 10 percent on toe and foot, with 8 per cent on hands. Thus it is shown that 35 percent of the injuries were on leg, toe, foot and 43 percent on fingers and hands. The eyes were affected in 124 of the 1,251 injuries recorded, and 34 of these are classified as "foreign matter in eyes." It is evident that protection of hands and fingers for cane cutter is important; protection of leg, toe and foot bear the next heaviest burden for protection; eyes appear to be next. We have become accustomed to metal shin guards furnished cane cutters. Now the Florida Industrial Commission agents are urging more protection for ankle, foot and toe. A glove is suggested for the fingers and hand, and various forms of eye protection are available. Eye guards made of meshed wire as well as goggles with protection from the side, are available. Ingenious devices are being studied by all sugar mills for the lower extremities, to include a covering for the feet and toes. Linked mail lining, asbestos, fiber glass, canvas and leather are items being experimented with and considered by the employers, for hand coverings. They must be pliable, resist the razor-edge knives and be within economical cost brackets. Glades mills have participated in two sessions of discussion in an attempt to determine which particular items offered are best all-round for the cane cutter. Mr. Wirtz wants the native-born American to be the only ones subjected to these hazards of the cane knife; the native-born American is reluctant to subject himself to these hazards as well as the necessary "stoop labor" involved. Even the native-born American high-school student hasn't proven enthusiastic about agricultural harvest as a summer-time physical conditioner and source of wages. Aside from the humanitarian motive, in interruption to strict harvest schedules, and the added 24 percent to wages are items of great concern. Ingenuity is on the way to a solution — or a decided alleviation of the present waste of manpower and dollars in the common cane knife, it appears! The Commission's report lists two deaths — both tractor drivers. One ran off the road into a canal with his tractor and drowned. Another slipped off the bank and drowned when he attempted to get water for the tractor radiator. One person is listed as being injured by an animal-drawn vehicle and lost 42 days, with a cost of $775. One person was injured by insecticide and five with paralysis.

Scholarships On Basis Of Need For Students Of PB Jr. College

Dr. Harold C. Manor, president of Palm Beach Junior College, was notified this week that the local college had qualified for a $21,600 work study grant under the recently established Educational Opportunity Act. Notification came from Senator (Republican) Holland and Congressman Paul Rogers. Palm Beach Junior College was required to raise one-tenth of the total grant to qualify for the aid. Mr. Leon Warner, chairman of the Work Scholarship Committee at PBJC said that the money is to be paid to students for work on the campus. The jobs would include library assistants, lab help, student checkers, and for work on various college publications. Warner will be assisted in the program administration by Mr. Paul Butler also of the college guidance staff. The scholarships are to be awarded on the basis of need and they will pay the student $125 per hour. Students who wish to apply for the work scholarships should contact Mr. Warner or Mr. Butler in the college Guidance Center.

USDA Amends Inspection Rules

The U. S. Department of Agriculture has amended Federal meat inspection regulations to allow use of a harmless sugar derivative — glucono delta lactone — in processing cured meat products. USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service said various ingredients are used in processing cured meats, such as frankfurters and bologna, to "fix" the color of the meat. Use of glucono delta lactone speeds up this process, and also reduces the time required for smoking frankfurters and bologna. Glucono delta lactone is commonly used in bakery mixes, but has not previously been used in meat products.

Extra Tire Pressure Advised In Summer

If you're about to begin that long-distance vacation trip, it will pay you to carry an additional four pounds of air pressure in each tire, according to the East Florida AAA Division. "As a matter of fact," says the Auto Club, "it won't hurt to carry the extra pressure all the time." The American Automobile Association explains that while the recommended tire pressure in a new car manual makes for softer riding, a higher inflated tire allows for the safest high-speed traveling. Additionally, the tire wears better, the Auto Club says. "An underinflated tire, on the other hand, can build up too much pressure at high speeds because of its constant flexing," the organization notes. The combination of pressure and heat buildup could, under some circumstances, result in a blowout. The additional four pounds of pressure in each tire might make for a little rougher ride, but the tires will always be ready for high-speed, long-distance riding.
